

Part-Time Lower School Spanish Teacher:

The Epiphany School of Global Studies seeks an elementary grade Spanish teacher for a part-time position, beginning in August 2021.

Epiphany is a thriving K-12 independent school in a historic setting, situated along the shores of Eastern North Carolina. We are a college-preparatory community of faith that is committed to creating globally aware students who are prepared to thrive in the world around them. Epiphany's Lower School campus is a lively center of growth, discovery, and learning for students in grades K-5.

Successful candidates will:

- have a high level of comfort working in an independent school setting that allows for innovative teaching, curricular design input, and collaboration with a professional team of educators.
- Demonstrate advanced or native proficiency in Spanish.
- instruct students in reading, writing, word work, language mechanics, and grammar in a Spanish immersion setting.
- have knowledge of literacy skills in a workshop structure.
- have knowledge of differentiation strategies and experience in meeting individual student needs within a range of skill levels.
- possess strong Spanish and English communication skills, both written and oral, and engaging interpersonal skills.
- fully embrace the school's mission and engage their students using instructional methods that are positive, innovative, appropriate, relevant, and reflective.
- integrate technology, a global focus, elicit critical thinking, and challenge students to continue discovery beyond the classroom.

Interested applicants should complete an online application, submit a resume or CV, and a cover letter explaining how he/she matches Epiphany's search criteria. Salary is determined based on education and experience.

At least five years of teaching experience is recommended and experience in an immersion setting is strongly preferred.
