

The Epiphany School of Global Studies seeks an experienced Middle/Upper School Literature/Language Arts teacher for a full time position, beginning in October 2018.

Epiphany is a thriving K-12 independent school, in a historic setting, situated along the shores of Eastern North Carolina. We are a college-preparatory community of faith that is committed to creating globally aware students who are prepared to thrive in the world around them. Epiphany's Trent Road Campus is our lively center of discovery and learning for students in grades 6-12.

Successful candidates will have a high level of comfort working in an independent school setting that allows for innovative teaching, curricular design input, and collaboration with a professional team of educators. The teacher position will instruct students in the methodologies of eighth grade grammar, writing, and literature. Additionally, this position instructs writing/composition to ninth grades and research writing to tenth graders. The ideal candidate will have an in-depth working knowledge of the intricacies of language arts instruction. Applicants should possess strong communication skills, both written and oral, and engaging interpersonal skills. They will fully embrace the school's mission and engage their students using instructional methods that are innovative, appropriate, relevant, and reflective. Instruction must also integrate technology, elicit critical thinking, and challenge students to continue discovery beyond the classroom. A successful candidate will also take on responsibilities such as a leadership role with a student club, becoming a student advisor, or even an athletic coach.

Interested applicants should complete an online application, submit a resume or CV, and a cover letter explaining how he/she matches Epiphany's search criteria. At least three years of teaching experience and a master's degree is strongly preferred.

All communications can be submitted to David Wang, Assistant Head of School, at Epiphany electronically at dwang@epiphanyglobalschool.org.
